Academic Progress Review Form

The University is ready to respond to mitigating circumstances, which may arise in individual situations. Students denied aid may request a review of the decision concerning their academic progress if they feel circumstances such as illness, injury or death in the immediate family affected their performance, or if there is an error in the academic record. Reviews must be in writing and completed on this Academic Progress Review Form.

The Financial Aid Director will issue a decision either confirming the denial of aid or reversing that decision based on information on the Review Form.

Use the spaces below to detail your specific circumstances. Attach any documentation that you feel will be applicable to your appeal.
